A photograph of a man with grey hair, wearing a grey button-down shirt and blue jeans, standing and speaking to a group of high school students. The students are seated in rows of chairs, facing the man. They are in a room with light-colored walls, a purple carpet, and a projector mounted on the ceiling. A potted plant is visible on the right side of the room. The man is gesturing with his hands as he speaks.

Inspiring and motivating high school kids to get involved in meaningful charitable work in their schools, local communities and around the world. Local and national opportunities for youth that serve to encourage and highlight their gifts through hands-on experiences.

GEOFF REESE

Educating, Equipping and Empowering Youth to Unleash Their Genius

Geoff's message is powerful and unique because he WAS a struggling teen himself.

He understands their pain and can speak to students on their level. While being a star athlete and well liked in school by his peers, Geoff dealt with his own hidden insecurities of self-esteem and negative thinking which led to bad choices involving alcohol.

After flunking out of college and being told he had no future, Geoff did finish college and went on to graduate school to receive a Masters in counseling. His uplifting message is focused on the fact that we have all been created with a “seed of genius.” He speaks to youth with the message that the sooner we realize our potential, the sooner we can begin making a positive impact in the world.

1 YOU HAVE A GENIUS IN YOU

I believe we are all born with a seed of genius meant to impact the world. For more than two decades, I have been educating, equipping and empowering people to unleash their genius and to find their purpose in life. You either become what you were created to be, seeing the reality of your purpose and contribution to the world, or you ponder them as missed opportunities at life's end.

2 BEING AN IMPACT AGENT

The question is not whether you're an Impact Agent; it's about what you're going to do about it. Are you ready to set aside every negative feeling you've felt about your uniqueness? Are you ready to set aside your own limiting beliefs and stop focusing on the challenges you've faced? Are you finally ready to take action to increase your capacity for greatness? The choice, my friend, is entirely up to you. Our hope is that you recognize your own significance sooner, rather than later--the world needs you.

3 CONNECTING THE DOTS

Remember those dot-to-dot pictures you would do as a kid? It's an obscure picture that begins to materialize as you move from dot to dot.

Life is like a big game of connect the dots. The dots are defining moments in our lives. Some dots are big, and some dots are small. Together, these dots take shape and begin to reveal our life story. Geoff's philosophy on working and speaking with kids is that if all they do is listen to him tell some funny stories without challenging them to think, to feel, and to begin to connect the dots, then 45 minutes of their lives have just been a waste of time.

Geoff Reese is the founder of Dare To Serve, a faith-based movement that's inspiring and motivating high school kids to get involved in meaningful charitable work. Dare to Serve encourages students to serve in their schools, local communities and around the world through hands-on experiences.

Geoff has contributed over a decade impacting hundreds of inner city kids lives in the Dallas Metroplex area through the human connection of serving. Inner-city high school kids have caught a vision for serving the needs of homeless kids in their school and leaving gangs because of Dare to Serve's message of living a life of purpose.

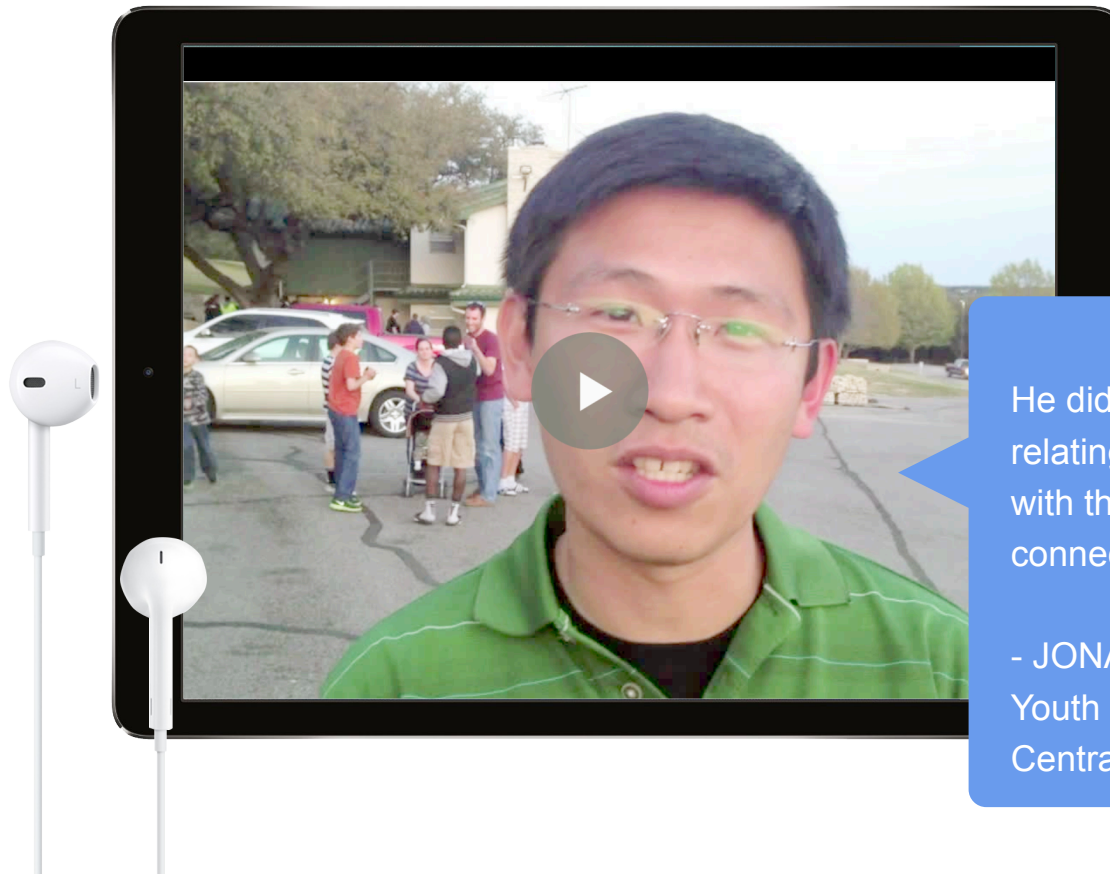

When Geoff isn't busy connecting with audiences and inspiring high school kids, he's probably spending time with his family, four kids, and three grandkids. He loves going on adventure cycling trips, backpacking, competing in triathlons, and taking walks with his wife of 36 years.
